

我會
wǒ huì
(I can)

This is a delightful story about a little one who's discovering all the things they can do on their own! From using the potty like a big kid to chowing down all by themselves, getting dressed and even lending a hand with the housework, this kiddo is on a roll! They're eager to learn all sorts of other things too, like growing up, being grateful, and spreading love wherever they go!

When the little one gets stuck or makes a mistake, their mom and dad are always there to give them a big hug and say, "It's okay! We'll take things slow and learn together!" So snuggle up close and read this story together for a warm and fuzzy feeling that will last all day long!
