Overview

Léon the Bumblebee loves to eat and does not like to share. Mireille the Bee learns this the hard way when she tries to make her honey and can't find the slightest trace of pollen left on the flowers. Léon took it all and refuses to give Mireille any of it.

As time goes by, Léon has become so big that he can no longer fit through the door of his house anymore. He pushes and pushes until he gets stuck — head outside, backside inside. Who will save him and what lesson will he learn from it?
