Two Can

Two Can/ 一起玩 is cool bilingual book just for kids under 4. It's like going on a mini adventure at the playground!

In the story, we see a girl swinging solo, while a boy's still figuring it out. Whether it's quiet playtime, building sandcastles, reading, biking, or swinging super high, we find out that things are more fun when we share them with friends. But here's the real deal: some games are meant for teamwork, like seesawing or tossing a ball. And you know what? Learning to swim is way easier when you've got a friend cheering you on. It's all about teamwork, talking, and picking up new skills from each other.

What makes this book super special is how it teaches us some important Chinese words like "会" (can) and "不会" (cannot), "能玩" (can play), and "没法玩" (cannot play). These words are like little keys to understanding Chinese, and we can easily learn them through repetition. Plus, it's cool to see how numbers work and what we can do on our own compared to with a buddy.

会 (huì) - can
不会 (bù huì) - cannot
一个人 (yīgè rén) - one person
两个人 (liǎng gè rén) - two people
游泳 (yóuyǒng) - swimming
玩 (wán) - play
没法玩 (méi fǎ wán) - cannot play
就是 (jiù shì) - just
才能 (cái néng) - can only
一起 (yìqǐ) - together

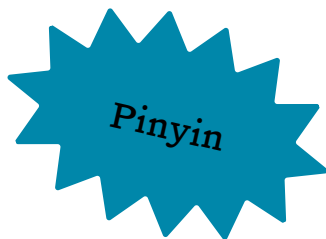

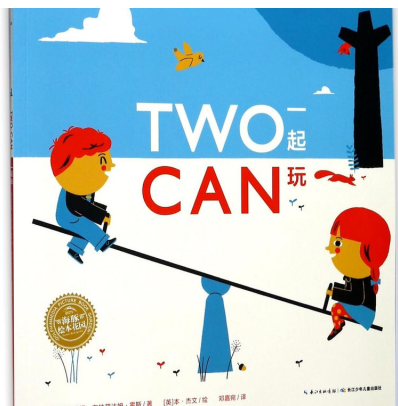

- 1 Why can't one person play on the seesaw?
(Hint: Because it needs two friends to go up and down together!)
你认为为什么只有一个人不能在跷跷板上玩?
(提示: 因为需要两个朋友一起上下摆动!)
- 2 If your friend doesn't know how to swim, would you teach them?
(Hint: You can hold their hand and help them learn!)
如果你的朋友不会游泳, 你会教他们吗?
(提示: 你可以拉着他们的手, 帮助他们学习!)
- 3 Do you like playing with friends or by yourself? How would you ask a friend to play with you? (Hint: You can say, "Let's play together!" or share your toys with them!)
你更喜欢和朋友一起玩还是独自玩? 你会怎样邀请朋友一起玩?
(提示: 你可以说, "让我们一起玩!" 或者与他们分享你的玩具!)
