Where is my Bicycle?

Prepared by: Curio Team

"Where is my bicycle," a multiple international award winner, promises to take young readers on an exciting journey where they can identify animals, explore size comparisons, and practice fundamental beginner phrases in the Chinese language. At the heart of this story is a bicycle, encouraging children to question its ownership and actively engage in interactive language and cognitive activities.

Now, here's the twist – we're turning into super detectives! We'll grab that cool bicycle and compare it to the animals. In the story, there are seven distinct bikes, and each one is a perfect match for the animal riding it. Can you spot the connections?

And let's not forget about the language part. We'll keep repeating cool phrases like "這是誰的" (Whose is this?) and "這是我的" (This is mine) numerous times. These are essential phrases for beginners and for kids.

Ask questions, dive deep into the bike designs, and let your imagination run wild. Have you ever wondered why certain animals have their very own special bikes? It's all about sparking those brilliant ideas!
