This is the story of Fossile, a crocodile who cares so much about making his friends happy and worries so much about frightening them that he tries to stay as still as possible.

So what happens when his many talkative friends come on his back to get him to play and walk?

This book is filled with fun details to look at and point out, as animals are dressed up and randomly move about as you flip through the pages. A great book to memorize animal and object names that also encourages counting.
